These were the principles upon which the decision was based. The injunction, thus far, by the opinion, remains as it stood, with the absolute word "strike" and the sentence containing it omitted. An order will be signed on Monday with the express ruling under the opinion.

GENERAL STRIKE NEWS.

A Prolonged Contest Between Eastern and Western Brotherhood Men.

CHICAGO, March 17 .- The general grievance committees of the Eastern and Western roads entering Chicago were in session again to-day, but their deliberations were not brought to a close, and all decided to remain and resume work on Monday. According to the best information obtainable, the Eastern men have not yet given up their position. They are handling Burlington cars, and intend to continue to do so. The Western roads want to go out, but cannot get the consent of the entire organization. "We have been trying to preserve the Brotherhood and at the same time keep the good opinion of the public," said one of the Eastern men, "We have been making a conservative fight against an unscrupulous enemy." It is undoubted that the committeemen have taken some kind of action more than they allow to become public. Their object, apparently, is to remain on the scene of action so as to be ready at any time should their interference be required. As near as can be judged, they want to keep the rod up to bring it down on the railroads if they should deem it necessary, and to keep them in the constant fear of a strike unless they maintain a boycott on the Burlington or bring their influence to bear to settle the strike.

No Strike on the Gulf System.

KANSAS CITY, March 17 .- Chairman Hitchins, of the Fort Scott grievance committee, who came here last night to investigate matters, returned to his home in Springfield, Mo., to-night. He said this evening: "There will be no strike on the Fort Scott system for the present, and I am going home to-night. I have not been able to find any excuse for a strike on the part of our men. If a strike is ordered it will be by some one else, and I am the only man having authority to order one.

No Strike on St. P., M. & M. ST. PAUL, March 18.-There will be no strike of the Brotherhood engineers upon the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba road. A conference was held this evening between General Manager Manville and the grievance committee of the road, and all differences were amicably settled. The trouble arose from a dispute as to what switching was expected of the Manitoba under their contract with the C., B. & Q. One Mani-toba engineer left his engine, but has since returned to work.

The Tie-Up on the Central Iowa. MARSHALLTOWN, Ia., March 17 .- One after another of the Central Iowa engineers refused to handle the Burlington cars, to-day, resulting in a complete tis-up of all freight traffic on 400 miles of road in Iowa and 100 miles in Illinois. The passenger service is still unimpaired, and no trouble with that is anticipated. Owing to rumored trouble, no mail car was sent down from St. Paul to-day.

Pierce, of the Mexican Central, who left Chihnahua three days since in pursuit of the Stein's pass train robbers, came upon Larry Sheban, Dick Johnson and Dick Hart last night, about twenty miles west of that place. THE FUNERAL OF WILHELM

How Germany's Capital Honored the Memory of the Nation's Dead Ruler.

Unique Decorations at Various Points in the City-Striking Scenes on the Streets During the Passage of the Procession.

Intense Anxiety Over the Serious Condition of Emperor Frederick III.

He Continues to Perform a Vast Amount of Work, in Defiance of Instructions from His Physicians-Other News by the Cable.

WILHELM'S OBSEQUIES.

Additional Incidents Connected with the Funeral Exercises at Berlin.

BERLIN, March 17 .- Chaplain Koegel, at the close of his sermon at the Emperor's funeral, yesterday, prayed for the relatives of the dead monarch, and above all for Emperor Frederick, after which he repeated the Lord's prayer.

A bridge over which the funeral procession passed was tastefully and originally decorated. On either side were anchored five large barges with high black masts bearing large branches of pine on their summits, and with enormous black sails with white borders, on each of which was a large shield with the imperial eagle encircled by a laurel wreath, hoisted half-mast high. In front of the arsenal were two pyramids, strikingly adorned with flags, lances, clubs, cuirassses, cannons and cannon balls, and weapons of all kinds, showing traces of Germany's victorious campaigns, freely mingled with holly and evergreens. At the guard-house were erected large pillars, on one of which was in-scribed in letters of gold: "He went home, and by so doing grieved a world. His faithful people are in tears for him. His grateful capital aments him.". On the other were the words: "To eternal peace has gone the creator of German unity. Careful of the world's peace even unto death." Facing the window of the palace from which the dead Emperor often gazed upon the people, stands a chapel surmounted by a cross of silver. In the gable of this building is a bronze relief of the last judgment. In the central niche is a very beautiful female mourning figure in bronze. This produces a refined effect against the coarser decorations seen elsewhere. Verses from the Bible are inscribed on either side of the niche. At the four corners of the place where the monument of Frederick the Great stands large flambeaux of gas flared in the wind. The central avenue of Unter den Linden was covered with vellow sand and strewed with short pine branches. At the corner of the Frederick atrasse was a canopy sixty feet high, from which descended in heavy folds black curtains edged and surmounted with ermine. Immense fires were lighted outside of the Cathedral and in the principal streets, at which the workmen, police and soldiers thawed their icy limbs while waiting. The population must have suffered terribly from the severity of the weather.

A peculiar effect was produced by the silence of the funeral procession, which was due to the strewing of pine branches along the route. As a result not the sound of a hoof could be heard. It was difficult to distinguish a single individual among the number of notable persons who crowded in the closest order around the open hearse, in which the coffin of dark brown polished oak, with brass ornaments, was plainly visible. The black canopy, heavily fringed with silver, seemed very odd in contrast with the new surroundings. The hearse was drawn by eight horses, whose black caparisons were only relieved by silver crosses. The horses did not bear plumes. Each was led by a colonel of the staff. the only exception to this being in favor of Cap-

was led behind the hearse. It was only after the funeral that an idea could be formed of the countless masses who had gathered to witness the procession, and who formed a surging sea of human beings which flowed up and down Unter den Linden for several hours without noticeable decrease. Over a thousand societies, corporations and deputations, with flags and emblems, passed along. At one time the fire-engines sped along the crowded street, the dense masses parting sufficiently for a moment to leave a pathway for them to pass through. Towards evening the lost its peaceful character, and the situation grew somewhat alarm-The crowd became so packed that it was impossible to move, and at the crossing at the corner of Unter den Linden and Frederick strasse there was a continuous contest between the crowd and carriages, the former having generally the best of it. Though not noisy, the crowd indulged in some pretty loud conversation until the dull boom of a cannon announced that the procession had started. At the sound, an immediate hush fell over the vast concourse, which was not broken save by sobs until the cortege passed. Beyond doubt the people were genuinely and deeply moved. Many old men with difficulty restrained their tears, and women wept aloud. The most striking moment was when the hearse passed. The sobs breaking from point to point seemed to make the surrounding silence more intense. In the evening the cypress twigs festooned between the pillars suffered considerably from the anxiety of the public to carry away souvenirs of the occasion. Emperor Frederick passed a satisfactory night, notwithstanding the exciting events of yesterday. At 10:30 o'clock this morning the Emperor and Empress received their daughters and their grand-daughter, Princess Feodora, The Empress afterward accompanied them to the mausoleum, where they all spent some time in silent prayer. Before leaving they placed fresh flowers upon the coffin.

The royal message, which will be presented to the Landtag on Monday, expresses the King's regret that his health prevents his taking the oath in person, and suggests that the House consider the message, which is countersigned by a Minister, as equivalent to the constitutional oath. As soon as his health is sufficiently improved, the message further says, the King will take the oath in the form prescribed by law. Although hundreds of thousands of people lined the route of the procession, many of them enduring the severe cold for hours rather than lose their places, not a single person in the enormous crowd was seen to smoke. One or two men, forgetting themselves for the moment, filled pipes and prepared to light them, but a general shout of "Nicht rauchea" covered them with confusion, and caused them to suspend operations until a more fitting time.

Berlin to-day is still far from assuming its wonted aspect. The mass of the people, prolonging yesterday's mourning holiday, throng the thoroughfares, and but for the sombre hues prevailing everywhere-the buildings and people being still clad in black-one might suppose a great popular fete was proceeding. Some of the people are making it a thorough fete day, and the festal animation of groups has a bizarre effect amidst the emblems of universal sadness. Orderly streams of sight-seers have come to gaze on the outside of the mausoleum, to obtain entrance to the Cathedral, and to catch a glimpse of the royal personages at the schloss. The bulk of the folks from the country have departed for their homes, and by Monday the populace will have resumed work, the buildings will have been divested of their draperies, and the normal appearance of the city restored. The authorities, military and municipal, are unanimously congratulated by the press upon the circumstance that, after one of the greatest public pageants ever seen, there is to-night no record of an accident.

EMPEROR FREDERICK.

Great Anxiety Over His Condition-His Disregard of His Physicians' Advice. [Copyright, 1888, by the New York Associated Press.]

BERLIN, March 17. - The intense anxiety over the condition of Emperor Frederick already overpowers the impression of yesterday's somber magnificence. In the highest official circles the question asked is not what the Emperor's policy may be, but how long he will live to disclose any policy. Wanton gossip attributes to him the intention to change the personnel of the government in opposition to Prince Bismarck. Herr Von Puttkamer is mentioned as retiring. Herr Von Boetticher is in peril, and the anti-Bismarckian court clique will obtain a dominant influence. Men like Gen. Stosch, an old opponent of the Chancellor, will be made the active heads of departments. So far as the Emperor has yet done anything, he has simply

Bismarck. The Emperor, though able to work continuously for several bours, works under the knowledge of his sentence of death, and that his doom is so near that it would be folly to try to modify the policy of his predecessor. His only daily consultations are with trusted friends of the Chancellor. To-day, for instance, he received General Von Moitke, General Albedyll, General Von Schellendorff and Counselor Wilmonsky. During the day he exchanged frequent communications with Prince Bismarck, probably concerning Monday's messages to the Landtag and Reichstag. Some official audiences fixed for to-day were postponed on account of the Emperor's absorption in the preparation of these state documents. He persists in working against the advice of his physicians. In reply to their remonstrances, he is reported to have said: "My time does not be-long to me: I cannot take time."

The Cologne Gazette, commenting upon the Emperor's ardor for work under a consciousness of approaching death, calls him a martyr in the highest sense of the word, and says: "A hero, unflinching on the field of battle, he is a still greater hero in doing his utmost duty while facing the inevitable result of his dreadful mal-

The latest Reichs Anzeiger bulletin says that despite the excitement of the past few days the Emperor is free from fever, and that no special complications have made their appearance. The secretion continues rather copious, with consequent irritation. His cough is interpreted favorably. The inflammation that was visible on Thursday is now abating. The officials who saw the Emperor to-day state that he exhibited a marked renewal of energy from a single night's good rest. Prince Bismarck to-day consulted with the President and Vice-president of the Language on the difficulty in the way of the Emperor taking the oath. The Constitution directs that the oath must be taken before the united chambers. Legal advice is that the requirements of the Constitution will be fulfilled by the Emperor signing the oath in the presence of representatives of the Chambers. The President and Vice-president of the Landtag, who were to have an audience with the Emperor and Empress on Monday, have received an intimation that under the existing circumstances the audience will have to be postponed and that no day can be fixed for their reception. Both houses of the Landtag will adopt an address in reply to the Emperor's message, which, it is expected, will be couched on the lines of the imperial proclamation. Further discussion of the proclamation shows a confused diversity of its reading. The Conservative press refuse to interpret the passage on social legislation as disavowing Prince Bismarck's social and economic projects. The Progressist journals take the same passage as indicating clearly a profound divergence between the social politics of the Chancellor and the Emperor. With reference to the rights of the Reichstag, according to the Progressist press, the proclamation marks the determination of the Emperor to respect the voice of the people as expressed by their representatives. The Conservative and National Liberal papers consider the tenor of the proclamation a mortal blow to the hopes of the Progressists, who expected a positive declaration in favor of a parliamentary regime. Every one con-curs in sympathetic criticism of the proclamation. The right key to its meaning belongs to Bismarck as its practical interpreter.

GENERAL FOREIGN NEWS.

General Boulanger in Danger of Being Dismissed from the French Army.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. LONDON, March 17.-The Boulanger excitement continues in Paris. During the excitement following his recognition in a carriage in the Rue St. Honore, at 6 o'clock last evening, when the crowd attempted to unharness bis horses and draw the vehicle themselves, the editors of the Cocarde threw cockades from the windows to the crowd below, and the latter, in the height of their enthusiasm, sang Boulanger songs until they were horse. Meanwhile the General, assisted by the police, made his escape through the rear of a convenient store into another street. Although the excitement lasted some time, and the police were active in dispersing the crowd, arrests were made. If it shall be found that another Boulanger campaign has really started the government proposes to dismiss the General from the army altogether, regardless of the fact that such action would lay the Ministery open to the accusation of persecution. The death of Sepator Carnot removes the chief of the anti-Boulanger party, and among the Revanchists there is very little mourning over his taking off.

The Recent Disasters in China. SAN FBANCISCO, March 17 .- The steamer Oceanic arrived from Hong Kong and Yokohama this morning. The China papers confirm the reports of a disastrous earthquake in the provinces of Yunnan and Syechuen, but give few additional details. Several cities were destroyed and about 20,000 lives were lost. Latest reports from the scene of the Yellow river floods place the number of lives lost at one hundred thousand, and the total number of sufferers from the inundation will reach between a million and a half and two millions.

Cable Notes. Gen. Willoughby, late commander-in-chief of the army of Hovas, who was arrested in Madagascar for alleged embezzlement of $12,000, has been released. Mr. Bell, the United States minister to Holland, who is now in London, has received a dispatch notifying him of the acceptance of his resignation, which will take effect on May 1. Pressure of private business causes his return home. The newspapers express regret at his departure, and ment Mr. Bell and his wife, who is Mr. James Gordon Bennett's sister, for their hospitality and diplomatic courtesy.

Attempt to Blow Up a Saloon. Special to the Indianapolis Journal. MARION, Ind., March 17 .- A large portion of Jonesboro's population was aroused this morning. about 2 o'clock, by a terrific explosion. An investigation located the disturbance at the saloon of Jasper Watson, where there were abundant evidences of wreck and ruin. The glass in the front was shivered to atoms, and the door was shattered, but beyond this the damage was not serious. Bits of burnt fuse and fragments of the bomb indicated that the explosive had been laid on front door step and touched off. Fragments of the bomb picked up showed that it was about two inches in diameter, and probably eight inches long. It was probably filled with gisnt powder. There is no clew to the identity of the offenders. This makes the third attempt in a year to blow up Watson and his business.

A Bellicose Canadian Sealer. VICTORIA, B. C., March 17 .- The schooner Sapphire, captain Pettitt, has cleared for the Behring sea sealing grounds with a hunting crew and sixty Indians, all fully armed. This vessel suffered last year through seizure by an American cutter, and the officers have vowed armed resistance to any furthur seizure, saying they will kill any official who crosses her rail. Last year the captain says he had great difficulty in restraining the Indians from attacking the officials placed on the seized schooner. It is feared here that a sanguinary encounter may take place if they are molested by American cutters. The passive acquiescence of last year will not be repeated

A Demented Railroad Man. CHICAGO, March 17 .- G. R. Morford, a well-known railroad man, was taken to the Detention Hospital for the Insane to day. He became somewhat violent during the last few days, believing that he was Vicepresident of the United States, and insisting on his rights. He formerly was assistant superintendent of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad, and lived a a long time in Omaha. He was superintendent of construction for the Union Pacific railroad, and was largely interested in the first construction of elevated railroads in New York. His trouble is believed to be largely due to family differences.

Murdered by His Step-Son.

CHICAGO, March 17 .- Frank Weekly, an ex-convict, was killed this morning in the house No. 174 North Desplaines street, by his step-son, Joseph Hudson, Weekly had a violent quarrel with his wife, and it is supposed Hudson came to the defense of his mother and struck his step-father on the head with a flat-iron, crushing his skull. He fled immediately after the murder and has not yet been arrested.

Obitnary.

MONTPELIER, Ind., March 17 .- Henry, Baer, aged eighty-four, died here suddenly last night. Mr. Beer was one of Montpelier's most respected citizens. For four years past he has carried the mails constantiv until Wednesday. His was the most familiar face in all this section. NEW YORK, March 17 .- Ex-Governor Fairbanks, of Vermont, died of pneumonia, at the Fifth avenue Hotel to-day.

Losses by Fire. LARIMORE, D. T., March 17 .- The 200-barrel roller-mill here burned yesterday, with the warehouse, elevator and 35,000 bushels of wheat. The loss is $65,000: insured for $42,000. WOONSOCKET, R. L. March 17 .- The Oriental mill at Millville, Mass., was destroyed by fire to-day. Loss, Dishonest Postai Clerk Arrested.

$40,000; insured.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 17 .- George W. Lusted a postal clerk, was arrested last night by a postoffice inspector on a charge of robbing the mails. Lusted Emperor has yet done anything, he has simply confirmed the official status everywhere. Nothing indicates any material change in the government or the external or internal policy of Prince ing a wife and family in Lancaster, Wis., and spending every other night at his country home. Living in this way his salary of $1,000 a year was inadequate to meet his expenses, and he reverted to robbing the mails. He had been a postal clerk two years.

PREPARING FOR A TRIAL.

Warrants Are Issued for the Rest of the Defendants in the Election Conspiracy Case.

Under instructions of District Attorney Sellers, warrants were yesterday issued for the arrest of the remainder of the men indicted for the tally-sheet conspiracy, along with Coy, Bernhamer and Mattler. Those against whom warrants were issued are John E. Sullivan, John Reardon, George Budd. C. N. Metcalf, and John H. Counselman. The statement that Henry N. Spaan was among the number was an error, as he was served at the same time as Coy, Bernhamer and Mattler, although not tried with them, having shown that he was acting as an attorney.

The warrants were not served yesterday, and the defendants will doubtless all appear in court to morrow and give bond without having been served, although Reardon is said to have declared that "if they want me they will have to come over and get me." John E. Sullivan is not Attorney Sellers's object in having the warrants served is to be ready for trisl in case the Supreme Court refuses to interfere in the cases of Coy and Bernhamer. He desires to dispose of them as early as possible, and they will probably come up early in April. The case against Albert Beck will undoubtedly be drop-

Christ Church Calls a Rector.

The vestry of Christ Church have extended a call to Rev. Charles D. Williams, of Fernbank, O., a small suburb of Ciucinnati, to become rector of the church. He was notified of the action yesterday, and as vestries do not extend "calls" until they have learned whether the object of their call will accept, it is to be taken for granted that Rev. Mr. Williams will be the next rector of Christ Church. He is a comparatively young man, about thirty years of age, and is a graduate of the theological institute of the well-known college of Gambier, O. He completed his studies there about five years ago, but has since been rector of the Episcopal Church at Fernbank. Not long ago a member of the vestry of Christ Church went to Fernbank to hear him preach, and was very favorably impressed with him. As other inquiries resulted in equally favorable reports of the young clergyman, he was unanimously extended a call to this city.

Under New Management.

The Indianapolis chair manufactory has passed into the control of Mr. Frank E. Helwig, and notification was given yesterday that he would take charge to-morrow morning. The affairs of the company which, until yesterday, ow ned the factory, have figured in court during the past few years, owing to differences between Charles Helwig, the president of the company, and Frank E. Helwig, one of the stockholders. The latter, however, has purchased the interests of all the stockholders, amounting in the aggregate to about $90,000, and announces that he will take charge immediately. The present officers of the company will resign, and there will, in fact, be no corporation hereafter. The factory, which is located at the corner of New York street and the canal, is a prosperous industry, with several branches in Western cities.

Engaging Quarters at St. Louis. A committee from the Hendricks Club, of this city, left yesterday, at noon, for St. Louis to engage headquarters and accommodations for the club at the national Democratic convention. They will secure accommodations for 152, although the expectation is that a larger number than that will attend from the local organization. The Lindell Hotel was considered the most desirable location, and rooms there will be secured by the committee, which consisted of George F. Miller, Thomas Taggart, Wilbur F. Christian, Myron D. King and A. Melrassman. The report which gained circulation at the depot, that they were engineers on their way to take the places of the Santa Fe strikers, did not occasion them any particular inconvenience.

Election of Sunday-School Delegates. The Sunday-schools in Marion county will, at their meetings to-day, each select a delegate and an alternate, and on Monday night these delegates will meet at the First Presbyterian Church to organize the Sunday-school institute work, which is to be auxiliary to the new department of instruction in the International Sunday-school Association.

They Were Not Playing Contz. The fourteen colored men arrested on "Wall" street Friday night, charged with contz playing, were acquitted by the Mayor yesterday morning, on proof that they were holding a meeting for the transaction of business pertaining to the English Guards. The men claim that there has been no gambling, in "Wall street for four THEY ARE FOR DOLLAR GAS.

South-Side Citizens Strongly Approve the Move to Reduce the Cost of Light.

A "dollar-gas" meeting of citizens was held last night at No. 3 engine-house, on Virginia avenue. About thirty people were in attendance, and resolutions encouraging the municipal assembly to stand firm in its demand for $1 gas were unanimously adopted. The meeting was presided over by Frank Wheadon, with Chas. M. Smith acting as secretary.

Rev. R. V. Hunter introduced the following resolutions:

Be it resolved, first, That the citizens of the Twentieth ward and of the Fourth aldermanic district it. dorse the course pursued by the councilman of the aforesaid ward, and the aldermen of the aforesaid district, in roting for "dollar gas." Second, that it is the hope of this constituency that Councilman Stuck-meyer and Aldermen Laut and Clark will stand firm in the position which they have taken upon the Addresses favoring the resolutions were made by A. W. Wishard, George Hitts, Aldermen Laut and Clark, Councilman Stuckmeyer, 'Squire Seibert, W. H. Wishard, R. N. Cosby and Rev. K. V. Hunter.

The last named gentleman came armed with memoranda, and declared he was in favor of dallar gas for various reasons. First, because it could be furnished for that at a large profit; secondly, because the Indianapolis company had sold gas at $1 when the Citizens' company was operating, and if it could do so then it could now; and thirdly, because the facilities for doing work were better now than then. He said that John R. Pearson, president of the Citizens' company, had testified that gas cost during 1881, '82, '83 and '84, about 55 4-5 cents per thousand feet, and that included attorney's fees, leakage, tornup pipes, etc. To day pipes were in good condition. Then the coal gas had been mixed with coal-oil gas, which was lighter and much less expensive, thus renducing the expense materially. At $1.80 the company was coining money at a rats not understood by the people. There was a law providing that every corporation should make annual statements of its business to the public, or the directors and members would be individually responsible for the corporation's debts, and rather than let the people see the profits of their business they kept their earnings quiet and risked the penalty. Among the assets of the Fletcher & Sharpe Bank there was said to be a $100,000 block of gas stock on which four dividends of 25 cents each were declared annually. Now the company proposed to mix natural gas with illuminating gas, thus saving 30 per cent. more of the cost. At the conclusion of the discussion the resolutions were passed by a unanimous vote. Another resolution was then offered, as follows:

Resolved. That this constituency recommends its municipal representatives to Insist that the proper officials shall compel the street-car company to fulfill the provisions of its charter, whenever violated, and request a better service on the principal lines, morning and evening. This created considerable discussion, but was finally passed, with one dissenting vote.

The only other person connected with the fight who was indicted, is George Gaylor, Treator's adversary. He will be taken into custody to-day. It is understood that both men will plead guilty. and as the object of the indictments is simply for the purpose of warning other would-be

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF.

Dr. William T. Harris's last lecture on the "Philosophy of History" will be given on Wednesday evening next instead of Friday.

Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to Andrew Johnson and Mellie Bartin, Joseph Davis and Sarah Smith, William Adams and Mattie Royster, William Coeherl and Dora Bryan, Richard H. Neff and Anna E. Hall, William R. Connerce and Rosa E. Gullifer. There was a small outbreak of measles and diphtheria the last week but the health board does not fear a general spread. There are in all but eighteen cases of measles, and fourteen of diphtheria and both diseases appear to be in a very mild form. The births during the week number thirty-three, and the deaths from all causes thirty-one.

Scott Bronson, formerly a saloon-keeper on Blake street, was arrested yesterday on an old grand jury warrant charging him with selling iquor on Sunday. When the indictment was returned, three months ago, he left the city, and did not return until a few days ago. At the suggestion of his attorney he went before Judge Irvin, pleaded guilty, and was fined $25 and costs.

A Card from Messrs, Branham and Root. To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal:

The statement in the evening News of March 17, that the Iudianapolis Natural-gas Company had executed a bond for $20,000, or a bond of any amount, to protect parties in the right-ofwave suit, is false in every particular. Neither of us has ever been asked, nor have we ever signed any bonds personally, nor have we execut-d one for the company as its officers, nor have we promised to do so.
